Appendix A: List of Practice Guidelines

PRACTICE GUIDELINES FOR ALL PROFESSIONALS WORKING WITH TEENS

(Select the guidelines appropriate for your professional role.)

- ▶ Teens have a unique lingo, so ask teen clients what they mean if you are not 100% sure.
- ▶ Use gender-neutral terms when talking about teens' dating partners.
- ▶ Learn about the relevant state laws related to age of consent.
- ▶ Ask teens for feedback on whether your agency projects a teen-friendly atmosphere.
- ▶ Provide staff training on how to offer a welcoming experience to teen clients.
- ▶ Identify the school-based programs that serve pregnant or parenting teens in your community (GRADS programs or other local school or community programs).
- ▶ Call or visit the teachers and other key school personnel to provide information about your services for teen survivors.
- ▶ Offer to provide in-service training or to participate in a training exchange with school-based service providers on IPV, sexual and reproductive coercion, and trauma-informed approaches to teens.
- ▶ Know your state laws and agency policies about confidentiality and mandated reporting.
- ▶ Have a standard statement about confidentiality that you make to teens during your intake process.
- ▶ Learn about mandated reports regarding the children of teen parents. Exposure to domestic violence does not constitute child abuse or neglect.
- ▶ Make sure you have the knowledge and resources to assist with safety planning prior to making a mandatory report.
